

Study Justice

Make a difference and pursue a career where no two days are the same. Study subjects in cybercrime, forensic psychology, death investigation, and political institutions, among others.

Bachelor of Justice

Criminology and Policing / Policy and Politics

Intakes: February and July
Duration: 3 years (6 semesters)
2021 tuition fee: $31,400 per year

Campus: Gardens Point, Brisbane City
Academic and English language requirements:
Refer to the QUT website 'Requirements' tab

Why choose this course?

- Choose from two majors: policy and politics or criminology and policing
- Expand your interests with a second major in areas like law, psychology, online environments, or journalism, or study minors in forensic science, anatomy, management, computer science, international business, languages, PR, and many more
- Learn from the best with lecturers from industry and regular guest lecturers
- Undertake work placements in a range of community and government organisations
- Be supported by the Justice Mentor Program (JuMP), a program for justice students offering drop-in and email services as well as an intensive mentoring program.

Possible career outcomes

Criminologist, Diplomat, Aid Work Manager, Family Services Officer, Youth Worker, Disability Services Worker, Customs Officer, Ministerial Policy Adviser, Program Manager, Government Officer, Academic

This course is highly regarded by investigative and regulatory agencies, such as the Australian Federal Police and Queensland Police Service.

Work Placement

- Form industry links in a professional placement unit
- Many placements are funded to cover flights and other out-of-pocket expenses.

